ABSTRACT

(He did, however, manage to find a whole lot of oil, which Halliburton has generously agreed to care for.) I wonder how long it will take us to invade Syria, kill their civilians, deprive the survivors of food and shelter, destroy their water and electricity systems, plant American flags all over the place and install a U.S. military government – all in the name of freedom? – Kyrsten Sinema Phoenix

FULL TEXT

You know that feeling you get when you know that you've seen something before, but you just can't remember where? That deja vu feeling?

I got that feeling Tuesday when President Bush announced that Syria is hiding weapons of mass destruction and harboring Iraqi officials.

Then I remembered – I have seen this before. It was last fall, when Bush claimed that Iraq was hiding weapons of mass destruction and harboring Osama bin Laden's terrorists.

Interesting how he never found any weapons of mass destruction or Osama bin Laden's terrorists. (He did, however, manage to find a whole lot of oil, which Halliburton has generously agreed to care for.)

I wonder how long it will take us to invade Syria, kill their civilians, deprive the survivors of food and shelter, destroy their water and electricity systems, plant American flags all over the place and install a U.S. military government – all in the name of freedom?

– Kyrsten Sinema
